- V. Groveton Renewable Energy Park – Josh Levine, Project Developer Tamarack Energy & Mark Dell'Orfano, Vice President, Xgenesys Development Corporation
North Country Renewable Energy, a partnership between Tamarack Energy and Xgenesys Development Corporation, is proposing to develop a renewable energy park in Groveton, NH. Plans include the construction of a clean wood fired power generation facility and a biofuels manufacturing facility, which will produce ethanol and other fuel additives. The facility will utilize up to 1.2 million tons of whole-tree wood chips and other clean biomass materials, such as forest residue, brush, low-grade wood and other clean wood products.
- VI. Biodiesel Update -- Melinda Treadwell, Nora Velazquez, Keene State College
Dr. Treadwell and her team from Keene State College and the City of Keene will present the findings of their multi-year study which reviews the occupational and environmental impacts of petroleum diesel fuel and the potential health and environmental benefits associated with the use of biodiesel fuels in these issues.
- VII. Updates from the Coalition
Your chance to talk about any other issues you want. Bring ideas for future meeting topics as well.
